Hazardous specialty for garbage man

TOXIC SPILLS

A dirty job, but someone has to clean it up

Francis Passarelli gave up a career in retail sales for garbage — but not just any old kind; his Upland company disposes of hazardous waste.

"My father was a garbage man in Los Angeles and I always thought about becoming one," Passarelli said with a smile.

He and his cousin opened the Liquid Waste Management company four years ago to fulfill a need for hazardous waste disposal in San Bernardino County that they felt wasn't being met.

"Business has seen a large increase during the last six months, particularly concerning illegal dumpings," Passarelli said.

The large open spaces of the county, including the nearby desert lends itself to "clandestine operations," he said. The company once handled a case of illegal drug manufacturing activities when the moving van the suspects were using tipped over, dispensing the drugs.

Liquid Waste Management customers include the San Bernardino and Riverside counties' health departments, the California Department of Justice Bureau of Narcotics and the California Department of Transportation. In addition, the company does business with local industry, local sheriff's departments and the California Highway Patrol.

Most types of hazardous materials are handled by the company except radiological or pathological debris.

The company, a division of Disposal Control Service Inc., employs 25 people but management teams of four usually handle each case. Personnel are on 24-hour notice and are available to travel wherever their services are needed, Passarelli said.

Liquid Waste Management will also transport of hazardous materials, using nine trucks stationed at its 1369 W. 9th St. location in Upland. The site, however, is not a landfill. "We only transport materials. There aren't any hazardous wastes kept here at any time. The materials are taken by vacuum trucks to either the Santa Maria or Cattlemen Hills landfill sites," Jeanne Delperdang, company chemist said.

Ms. Delperdang is a former high school chemistry teacher and chemist at the BKK Landfill Corp. site in West Covina. She has worked for the local company since January. "I miss teaching in the schools but this is more exciting and challenging."

Liquid Waste Management handles the containment, control and removal of spill material. The company also cleans hazardous waste storage areas and roadway spills.

Business varies depending upon each customer. The company recently was dispatched to the Ontario International Airport to handle the clean-up of leaking containers of hydrochloric acid on a cargo jet.

Personnel are equipped with protective sealed suits and air masks while working. But Ms. Delperdang, who was dispatched along with the team still has an acid burn on her right hand, which she received when she removed a glove to work with some equipment.

"My primary responsibility is to be available for emergency responses. The rest of my job is to check what chemicals our potential customers are working with," she said.

She travels to each job, equipped with a mini-lab which enables her to determine what chemicals company personnel are facing. If she can't determine exactly what chemicals are involved, the lab still provides clues.

"You assume the worst until it is proven otherwise," she said.

Materials are collected and transported to landfill sites in sealed steel boxes.

"Sure there is an element of risk, I couldn't say there isn't, but everything is handled in a proper and safe manner," Passarelli said. "It's more dangerous being near a truck carrying gas to service stations than being near the materials we transport. Those materials already have been used, but the gas in the truck is volatile."

Industries are using more and varied types of chemicals than in years past, he said, forcing company personnel keep informed of all the latest information about federal and state regulations, he said.

"In our line you have to know your business. Our industry has seen many regulatory changes during the years," Passarelli said.

Handicapped challenge the Kern River

River rafting — a sport which scares many able-bodied people — has proven popular with a group of wheelchair-bound men and women in the area.

"The idea is that wheelchair users can participate in exciting and challenging sports," said Paul Haugen, of Upland, wheelchair sports coordinator at Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona. "An exciting trip like this puts smiles on everyone's face and draws us closer together," he added.

For the second year, the hospital for rehabilitative medicine has sponsored a river-rafting trip down the Kern River. Funds for the trip were raised through the Casa Colina celebrity golf tournaments, donations and other benefit events.

The 10 participants, who included several able-bodied members, also spent a night camping out under the stars.

The group started below the dam from Lake Isabella and covered eight to 10 miles a day. They stopped for lunch and sightseeing.

"It rained periodically during the first day, but didn't dampen anyone's spirit," Haugen reported. "That night, the sky cleared and we enjoyed a wonderful steak dinner before sleeping out under the stars. The bright moon awakened me."

The weather turned warm during the second day which allowed the group to go swimming in the river.

"The Kern is a cold river, but we stopped at a natural hot springs at the edge of the water and warmed up," Haugen said. In spite of the rough terrain, water and rocks, the group had only a few problems getting in and out of the rafts, he added.

The trip was led by guides from Outdoor Adventures. Haugen praised the guides for their assistance and safety measures.

"The purpose is to show newly injured people what they can do," said Haugen. "These trips lead them to independence and active participation. They learn how to manage wheelchairs in rough terrain."

"Rehabilitation doesn't stop in the hospital. We're always learning," he added.

Participants learn how to manage wheelchairs in the outdoors and gain confidence they carry over into their daily living.

Casa Colina has a number of active sports programs. The most famous, its Condor wheelchair basketball team, are national champion.

Other active sports include tennis, skiing, track and field, men and women's basketball teams and fishing.

Each summer, Casa Colina sponsors a 10-K run around June Lake and a fishing derby in the lake.

Casa Colina annually participated in the wheelchair "blister bowl" football game in Santa Barbara.

Haugen was a professional baseball player before injured in a car accident near Lake Tahoe. Haugen, a graduate of Cal State Chico, is a registered recreation therapist. Before joining the Casa Colina staff several months ago, Haugen was associated with Washoe Medical Center in Reno, Nev., and was executive vice president of Association for the Disabled of Northern Nevada.

Haugen coached Reno's wheelchair basketball team, the Silver State Highrollers.

LAST YEAR WE COULD HAVE SAVED 50 MILLION PEOPLE A TRIP TO THE EMERGENCY ROOM.

Back in the olden days (a whole year ago), when you had a minor emergency or illness, you'd rush over to the hospital emergency room.

And wait. And wait.

And waiting with you would be a lot of other sick people. And then, as if you hadn't already done so, you'd pay for the experience. A nice hefty sum.

Well, medicine has finally changed. So has emergency treatment. Today there are the N.M.E. Instant Care Medical Centers. They're fast, high quality, and affordable. And you can take advantage of them right near you.

CONVENIENT EMERGENCY TREATMENT FOR MOST ILLNESSES AND ACCIDENTS.

The N.M.E. Instant Care Medical Centers are a new concept. So you probably haven't heard much about them yet. What they are, is a network of convenient neighborhood centers where you can go for expert treatment of most illnesses, injuries or accidents. (However, for major life threatening situations, you would still go to a hospital emergency room.)

N.M.E. Instant Care Medical Centers are all over the nation. They're open 16 hours a day. From 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. 7 days a week. Every day of the year.

LITTLE WAITING. NO APPOINTMENTS.

At an N.M.E. Instant Care Medical Center, you won't spend your whole day reading magazines in the waiting room. Because there's hardly any waiting at all. We're a walk-in center. No appointments are needed. So you can come in at your convenience, not ours.

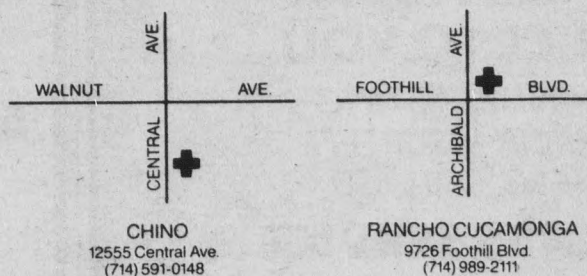

When you do you'll be seen immediately by the doctor, who will treat you with care and concern. If you need to be hospitalized, we'll see to it that you are and that you're well taken care of.

HIGH QUALITY MEDICAL CARE AT ABOUT HALF THE COST.

For all this, you'll pay about half of what you would pay at an emergency room. Including medical care, x-rays and other tests. For your convenience, we accept credit cards as well as cash or checks. We will even assist you in filing your insurance forms.

N.M.E. Instant Care Medical Centers. We know how to treat more than an illness. We know how to treat a person.

ENTERTAINMENT & DINING GUIDE

Spain makes an art of producing fine sherry

By Dan Berger
Copley News Service

Choosing the right wine to go with dinner has always been a challenge. Do you serve wine with the salad? What wine goes with chocolate, or pickles? What's best with turkey? The questions are endless and I take each one separately, since there is no all-purpose wine.

On the other hand, there is one wine that can match with a wide variety of foods, and indeed a case can be made that you could serve versions of it with every course in the meal. And yet it is a wine in such disrepute in the United States that we consume infinitesimal quantities of it, and the makers of it all but ignore us, preferring to ship to England, Belgium and France.

This fine all-purpose wine is sherry, the rich, nutty, fortified wine from Spain that at one time sold well in this country.

What has made sherry an ignored product here in the last two decades is hard to say, but most experts feel Americans, seeking more delicate wine, with lower alcohol and lighter flavors, have forgotten how nice sherry can be.

Sherry is probably the definitive wine to match with soup. It is a superb aperitif to serve along with the traditional spicy appetizers of Spain — called tapas — and it can accompany meals. Yet sherry can be confusing, too, since the word sherry applies to a wide variety of wines of the same type, but with different characteristics.

To point up those differences, David Sandeman, head of the House of Sandeman in Spain, conducted a recent tasting of a series of sherries of differing ages, starting with the lightest, the fino, and carrying through to the oldest, the dessert-style oloroso. But first a brief look at how sherry is made in Jerez (pronounced herreth), Spain, and which was Anglicized by the British to sherry.

It starts with the palomino grape, harvested and fermented dry. Immediately after fermentation, something curious occurs that determines what each cask (in Spain they are called butts) will become.

As the new wine sits in the anada (a line of casks of new wine) it can develop a certain special yeast film on top of the wine in the barrel. It is called flor, literally, flowery. If flor develops in a cask, that cask will be saved for the production of fino sherry, which is lighter and more delicate than other styles.

Why certain casks develop flor yeast and others do not is still a mystery, though certain vineyards are known to have a higher percentage of flor/finos wines than others.

The casks that do not develop flor will be set aside to make amontillado wines, which are fuller bodied than finos, and certain of these will begin to develop a slightly browner color than others, and will wind up as an oloroso sherry, which is more heavily scented and usually quite sweet.

A very few of the casks will develop a richness that leads to a style known as palo cortado. This is a wine of depth yet with a delicate bouquet. Sandeman estimated that less than 1 percent of any sherry house's production is palo cortado.

After it is determined which style of wine each cask will become, the wine is poured into a criadera — literally a nursery — and over the next few years, the wine will be transferred from barrel to barrel, constantly being blended with wine from other years (thus there is no vintage sherry), and finally into a solera.

A solera, the series of casks from which the wine eventually will be bottled, is the heart of the sherry system. Never is more than a third of the wine in a solera bottled, and after bottling the cask is refilled from the criadera. Thus some of the old wine always remains in the solera. Which means, of course, that if a solera is started in 1852 (as was Sandeman's) some of the wine in the solera, admittedly just a tiny fraction, will date from 1852.

Sandeman's tasting started with a glass of chilled fino, a light, crisp wine with only a hint of the nuttiness for which sherry is known.

"We recently have lightened our fino by removing from our system any cask that leans toward amontillado," said

Sandeman.

Next we tasted the amontillado wine from a criadera, wine that will never be bottled as such, but which will remain in the barrel at Sandeman for at least 10 years before moving on to the solera.

Back to School

Life as the school resource officer for the Rancho Cucamonga Sheriff's Station is a big change from regular patrol duty, according to deputy Paul Schmidt.

For one thing, the working days and hours of his position are more like school, Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

After spending the past eight years working patrol, three at his current station in Rancho Cucamonga and five years for police departments in Los Angeles County, Schmidt said he welcomed the change.

Schmidt, 30, worked part-time as the station's school resource officer last school year, sharing the duty with another officer. This year he will be working full-time at the job.

"It's kind of a nebulous kind of job. If principals call in, I can go to counsel kids on an individual basis. I do anything I can. I also handle the crimes occurring at the schools," he said.

When principals call Schmidt to counsel a youngster, it's after they've done all they feel they can do. "I'm kind of the last ditch effort.

I counsel them on what happens if deputies have to deal with them," said Schmidt.

The deputy said crimes at schools range from bicycle thefts to vandalism and burglary.

Motocross bicycles are a popular item for young thieves. The sale of stolen bike parts is a big business these days, according to Schmidt.

Most of Schmidt's efforts are focused on the two high schools and four intermediate, middle or junior high schools.

"Crime increases as kids get older. There is very little aside from vandalism in the elementary schools. On the junior high level, you have stolen bikes and property. At the high schools, you have assaults, burglary and stolen property," he said.

A couple of years ago, the school resource officer at that time was participated in the sheriff station's drug bust at Alta Loma High School.

Now, Schmidt said, "Last year, we used to get a lot of calls that kids were high. So far, I had one call this year."

The biggest problem, Schmidt said he sees is truancy but because of the Chaffey Joint Union High School District's "philosophy" to be low-key on the subject, neither the administrators nor he actively pursue truants.

"Usually, it's the truants committing local burglaries. The elementary schools don't have a big problem with truants," he said. The problem occurs at a higher school level.

However, it's basically "quiet" on the campuses this school year, he said.

Schmidt said before the start of the year, he made sure he met with school administrators.

"I told them I have an open-door policy. If they need information, I'm more than happy to give it to them. Right now, I'm driving around schools.

"School is like a microcosm of the world. When the school year ends, it's like the Aztec culture dies and resumes the following (school) year," Schmidt said.

When the school year comes to an end, so does Schmidt's appointment and then it's back to patrol during the summer. His appointment to the voluntary position as school resource officer is subject to annual renewal. The position is frequently rotated on a yearly basis.

Some problems at the schools are forwarded by him to other departments in the sheriff's station. For instance, when traffic problems at Deer Canyon School became a subject of parental concern, Schmidt said, he referred it to the traffic division.

On occasion he will follow up on traffic concerns. He said he has parked and watched the front of Alta Loma and Etiwanda high schools. He watched the front of Alta Loma for jay walkers crossing from Vineyard Park to the school and he watched students drive their cars along Victoria Avenue to make sure no one was speeding.

Schmidt said he sees his job also as a sort of public relations position for the sheriff's department.

"I'm there to show the kids we're not going to bite them. We're just as human as anybody else and have a job to do."

Deputy Paul Schmidt (far left) in front of one of the several Rancho Cucamonga elementary schools he regularly patrols. He notes (left) an Etiwanda High School student's license plate number to determine the owner after the car was found parked in the faculty lot. Schmidt looks to his back seat, (above) as he drives a student home in his patrol car.

EQUESTRIAN- ORIENTED SITES, COMMANDING VALLEY VIEWS

Haven View Estates is a private electronic-gated community of homesites situated at an elevation of 2,200 feet. Its vantage point provides commanding views of the valley below while to the north rises majestic Mount Baldy and the Cucamonga Wilderness area of the San Gabriel Mountains.

In addition, there is an extensive system of equestrian trails throughout the site.

AN EASY COMMUTE TO MAJOR CIVIC CENTERS

Rancho Cucamonga's outstanding location makes it an easy commute to major city business districts. In addition, it is just 4 miles from the Ontario Airport.

This city is also accessible to mountain and desert resort areas. It is 70 miles from Palm Springs and just 55 miles from Big Bear Lake.

A DYNAMIC AND GROWING COMMUNITY

Rancho Cucamonga is a dynamic community that currently ranks as the fastest growing area in the country. In the last few years it has overtaken even Orange County's progressive pace, realizing a near 250% population increase between 1970 and 1980. A reflection of the area's striking growth is the 40% traffic increase of nearby Ontario Airport since August of last year.

Under the supportive guidance of both the public and private sector, Rancho Cucamonga's current development is dramatic. Underway is the construction of major shopping malls, a major business complex and a massive new civic center.

Haven View Estates is situated at the hub of this local growth at the top of Rancho Cucamonga's most rapidly expanding district—the Haven Avenue Corridor.

The summer's curriculum consists of orientations on jet aircraft, career opportunities, human relations education and equal opportunity training. Physical fitness and survival training are also emphasized.

The field training lasts four weeks but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of instruction in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Army Reserve Pvt. Howard B. Phillips, son of Nellwyn Phillips of Upland, has completed an Army finance specialist course at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

The students were trained in the payment of military personnel, handling of travel allowances and accounting. They also received instruction in general military subjects.

basic cadets to military life under the program.

The academy is a four-year educational institution graduating men and women to serve as career Air Force officers. In addition to military training, the academy offers athletics and an academic curriculum, which includes basic and engineering sciences, social sciences and the humanities.

Scots in must win vs. Tigers

The Baseline League football season is only two games old, but for Upland High School the CIF playoff chase is fast becoming a must-win proposition.

The Highlanders are coming off a tough 24-13 loss to Don Lugo a week ago and they can't afford to make it two in a row.

Upland travels to Chaffey Friday for a 7:30 p.m. contest that is a homecoming of sorts for coach Leo Guest, who was a longtime Tigers assistant before taking over the Highlanders in 1982. Guest is 2-0 against his former team, including last year's 44-0 rout.

The Tigers are 0-2 in Baseline play this season and 0-5 overall, but the Highlanders (1-1, 3-2) aren't likely to be looking past any league foes after last week's loss to Don Lugo.

Upland dominated play in the first half of the contest, holding a 22-yard passing edge and outrushing the Conquistadores 60 yards to one. But the Highlanders could manage only a 7-7 halftime tie.

And in the second half it was the Ques' turn to dominate. The Scots hurt themselves with mistakes (two interceptions and two turnovers), allowing Don Lugo to take a two-touchdown lead that forced Upland away from its ball-control philosophy.

The Highlanders, who ran for 60 yards in the first half, ran just four times after intermission for minus one yard.

Sophomore quarterback Greg Fiorindo again performed admirably, connecting on 11 of his first 13 passes. But when the Highlanders got behind and had to go to the pass almost exclusively, Fiorindo became less effective. Of his last 13 passes, only four were completed and two were intercepted.

Wide receiver Larry Jackson had 11 catches for a whopping 185 yards and a touchdown for Upland, but the senior also fumbled once and dropped a TD pass.

Chaffey took a 14-3 lead in a bid for its first win last week, but Damien rallied for 32 unanswered points to down the Tigers 42-28.

Chaffey quarterback Robert Olmos was 11-of-21 for 229 yards. Included were two touchdown tosses of 47 yards and one of 42.

Local golf tournaments scheduled

The deadline is fast approaching to enter the Great Eight Oktoberfest Golf Tournament, a benefit for the building fund at San Antonio Community Hospital.

More than 185 entries have been received for the eighth annual tournament, for Oct. 17 over both courses at El Prado. Tourney officials have indicated an additional 20 golfers have also promised to play, pushing the entry list to over 200.

Although officials request entries as soon as possible, it will be possible to enter through Oct. 16. The $60 fee includes green fees, cart, prizes and dinner. Dinner tickets are $20 each.

For anyone who holes out on No. 7, an Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme valued at $14,500 will be given away. The card has been donated by Dunlap Auto Sales and Leasing in Upland. Should there be a tie, there will be a playoff.

In its seven years, the tournament has raised more than $32,000 for the fund.

El Prado will also be the site of the second annual Chaffey College Invitational golf tournament on Nov. 2, with all proceeds going into the school's athletic fund.

Bob Olivera, tournament director, said this year's tournament will be dedicated to John Burnison, Barney Newlee, Earl Sicosky and Don Wargin — all former Panther coaches.

"We're planning a bigger and better tournament this year," said Olivera, who also serves as Chaffey's athletic director. "Last year we had 84 participants and this year our goal is for 140 golfers."

There will be three divisions of competition for both men and women. Awards will be given to those posting best low net scores, low net Calloway and low gross. Prizes for closest to the pin and longest drive will also be awarded.

In addition, golfers will have the opportunity to drive off in a new car if they can ace the selected par 3. Citrus Motors is donating the new Ford for the lucky hole-in-one.

A noon shotgun start is slated, to be followed by a buffet dinner. The entry fee of $40 will cover green fees, cart, prizes and refreshments during the round.

Deadline for entry is Oct. 19. Entry forms are available at Chaffey College and local golf courses. Addition information can be obtained by calling Olivera and Richard Moses at the school, 987-1737.

Upland Hills Country Club Women's Golf Association celebrated its first anniversary with a shot gun tournament followed by a luncheon.

Team winners included: First — Martha Cummings, Sandy Vellas, Wanda Bauer and Mary Stewart; Second — Lottie Parrott, Joan Adler and Rosemary Morgan; Third — Barbara Thomas, Evelyn Flake, Clarice Oliver and Gladys Schneider.

Individual winners were: First flight — low gross: Bev Bugh, low net: Cumming, Olive; Second flight — low gross: Parrott, low net: Chris Long, Bauer; Third flight — low gross: Flake, low net: Vellas, Wilma Rice; Fourth flight — low gross: June Wucherphening, low net: Arlene Mitzenmacher, Adela Diatlovich.
